Motorists---Be Careful.

Looking over the weekly and daily papers of the province, one cannot but be impressed with the number of auto accidents that are happening daily. The mania for speed, or "stepping on the gas," as the phrase goes, is responsible for seventy-five per cent. of the accidents, the majority of which are sustained in trying to crowd the other fellow off the road.

And then of course there are those who evidently have not learned, and probably never will learn, that booze and gasoline do not mix well. This class not only endangers their own lives but those of fellow-travellers also.

Another factor the autoist has to reckon with in the country just now, is the loose gravel used in road repair, the best of drivers often finding it a difficult matter to "keep their footing."

An accident of this nature occurred at the Rosebud Hill, east of Didsbury, on Saturday, when a coupe driven by Miss Annie Smith turned a complete somersault in turning the corner on the Olds road. There were three other occupants, Miss Kathleen Currie, and the Misses Lena and Luella Schuller of Olds. Miss Smith suffered a bad scalp wound and in addition had a rib fractured, the others escaping with mere bruises. Strange to say, the glass in the car never suffered in the least.

Burnside.

Mr. Ray Milne, who has been confined to the Didsbury Hospital with a broken leg was removed on a stretcher to his house here on Saturday last. We are glad to hear he is doing splendidly and will soon be up and around again.

Mr. Leon Doll arrived on Tuesday from Woodcock, B. C., for the harvest and threshing.

Mr. Herman Ohlsen returned last week from Swallow where he has been spending the summer and is visiting his friend, Mr. H. A. Pearson.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thompson of the Elliott Ranch and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tapley spent Sunday with friends in Carbon.

Mr. Reggie Jamieson arrived last week from Newcastle, England to spend the summer with his uncle, Mr. Fred Thompson.

Annual Invasion Of the West

The prairie provinces of Western Canada are now rejoicing in the invasion to which they are subjected once a year. Not many countries find it a matter for congratulation to be invaded by an army of tens of thousands of husky men who, after a few months, depart taking substantial sums of money with them. But the West rejoices, extends a warm welcome, and holds out the hand of friendship to these men because it is a peaceable army of constructive laborers without whose help the West would suffer immense loss.

The coming of this army of harvesters is always an important event. It signifies the last stage of work in connection with the garnering of the crops which the Western farmer has expended so much labor and has followed with alternate hopes and fears through all the vicissitudes of plowing, harrowing, seeding, lack or over abundance of rain, hail, winds, and numerous plant pests. This army has come to assist him in finally reaping the reward of his labor and hours of anxiety. The hum of the binder, the transformation of the fields of rippling grain into stook dotted yellow prairie, and the rattle and roar of the threshing outfits is music in the farmer's ears, and a picture upon which he is never tired of looking.

The advance guard of the harvester army came from British Columbia, with a sprinkling from the British Isles; then the long trains bringing their quota from the far distant Maritimes; finally the main army from Ontario and Quebec. Many of these men are veterans who served in previous years' campaigns against the standing grain, but, undoubtedly, the larger number are young recruits, who will see and experience life in the prairie West for the first time. Thousands of them are exactly the type this Western country wants as permanent settlers. Indeed, all over the West are to be found among the most successful farmers men who first came as harvester hands, men who with their families are now making a great contribution to the growth, development and prosperity of this portion of the Dominion.

In welcoming this year's harvester army and putting it to work, the resident farmers of Western Canada should do what lies in their power to make living conditions as comfortable for the men as possible. Most men do not mind things a bit crude and rough provided they are clean. Long hours and hard work in the fields call, not only for the wages paid, but good food and lots of it and a comfortable bed on which to lie at night. The provision of such things means contented workers, fit as fiddlers, who are willing and capable of rendering maximum results during working hours.

The people of the West should strive, not to coddle the members of the harvester army, but to make converts of them to the glories of the West, the advantages and opportunities it has to offer. The West wants as many as possible to remain as permanent settlers, but it is equally important to the future of this country that those who return home do so with nothing but words of praise for the country and of the fair treatment and hospitality accorded them.

And the harvesters themselves should not be hasty in jumping to conclusions when conditions do not wholly appeal to them. They must realize that this is a period of stress, when straining efforts to the breaking point is necessary, and where, in many cases, it is financially and economically impossible to make as complete preparation in some respects as might be desired. The harvesters should study the country, try to enter into its spirit and methods, and closely investigate its possibilities with a view to deciding whether it would be to their advantage to throw in their lot with those who have done the pioneer work.

There is still room and opportunity for pioneers,—lots of them. Rewards are still in store for the man, even of small means, who has initiative and energy and is prepared to throw his whole vigor into the task of creating a new and better home for himself. To all such the West beckons and says "Welcome." Return to your homes, if you must, but don't forget the West, and come back again as soon as you can.

To keep pace with expanding business, the Intertype Corporation, of Brooklyn, are building a large new factory in the town of Harrison, New York. The annual payroll amounts to more than $1,500,000, and with the increased facilities afforded by the new plant this amount will be largely increased.

The Intertype Corporation manufactures the well-known Intertype Typesetting Machine. This machine is in general use by newspapers, publishers and printers everywhere, machines and supplies being shipped to all parts of the world. Branch offices and agencies are maintained in the principal cities of the United States and Canada. Subsidiary corporations operate in England and Germany. The executive offices, now located at 1440 Broadway, New York, and the two factories, one in New York and one in Brooklyn, will be combined in the new and enlarged building at Harrison. No Better Than Others

Many infants are infested by worms which cause great suffering, and if not promptly dealt with may cause constitutional weaknesses difficult to remedy. And not only this, but they will repair the injuries to the organs that worms cause and restore them to soundness.

New Steel Being Tested

Defies Extreme Heat and Acids Say Experts At Copenhagen

Announcement of some successful experiments made with a new steel that, it is asserted, will withstand extreme heat and the reaction of acids and gases injurious to the metal, is made by a Copenhagen newspaper. The new product is without a name. Ten tons of it have been produced at the Varde Works for comprehensive testing purposes.

The metal has been exposed to high temperatures in Copenhagen furnaces which heat to a temperature of 950 degrees, in which the metal has been allowed to remain for five or six periods of ten hours each, without showing any injurious effects. It is said that a piece of the best steel previously produced was completely destroyed in the first heating, at a temperature that had no effect on the new metal.

In the tests at the Varde Gas works pieces of ordinary steel and of the new, of the same size, were left in a "recarburetor" for six weeks at a temperature of from 1,000 to 1,100 degrees. At the end of the experiment the ordinary steel had practically disappeared, while the new alloy showed no signs of having been affected by the heat. Considerable interest has been aroused by the results obtained.

A Scottish Boy's Work

One of the Scotch boys who recently went to Australia, wrote home that he saves $5 a week, and added, "I get up at five, milk 47 cows, take the milk to the station, collect the mail at the post office, return home and feed the cows—and then start to work."

LIFE WAS A BURDEN

Restored To Health Through the Use Of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

"It is a pleasure," says Mrs. Ross Boulter, of Victoria, B.C., "to tell you of the new health and strength I got through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Before taking the pills life was a burden to me. I was so badly run down that I did not know what to do. My blood seemed to have turned to water, I was very pale, constantly tired, and was losing flesh. It was a trial to attempt housework. Added to this I had a bad cough and my husband and friends thought I was going into consumption. The medical treatment I was taking did not appear to do me any good, and I had about given up hope when a friend urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I got six boxes and found so much benefit from them that I got six more boxes. Before these were all taken I was a new woman restored again to good health. I gained in weight, the cough left me, my appetite returned and I once more had a good color. Better still, I was able to do my housework without failure. Needless to say I always recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to ailing friends, and I hope this will be the means of pointing the road to good health to some other sufferer."

Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for anaemia, rheumatism, neuralgia, nervousness. Take them as a tonic if you are not in the best physical condition and cultivate a resistance that will keep you well and strong. If you will send us your name and address, a little book, "Building Up the Blood," will be mailed you prepaid. This book contains many useful health hints. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SURVEYING NEW H. B. LINE TO FORT CHURCHILL

Winnipeg, Man.—To speed up the work of surveying the territory through which the Hudson's Bay Railway will pass, from the end of the present steel to the proposed terminal at Fort Churchill, three engineers from the Department of Public Works at Ottawa, arrived in Winnipeg en route for the north.

Accompanying the engineers was a small party of special craftsmen and on their way to Le Pas, Manitoba, about 200 more men will be engaged.

Some of the party will proceed to Port Nelson to commence the work of retrieving as much of the harbor material as can be used at Fort Churchill.

Another group of men will start on the preliminary survey for the harbor development at the new terminal.

It has been decided by the Government, as announced by Hon. Charles A. Dunning, Minister of Railways and Canals, that the work shall be advanced as expeditiously as possible and to this end work which can be done before the fall freeze-up is being rushed. Early next spring, just as soon as possible after the snow has melted, an army of workmen will be busy.

Will Conduct Soil Survey

Alberta Government To Investigate Agricultural Lands In North

Edmonton, Alta.—A soil survey of agricultural lands in the north country adjacent to the E. D. and B. C. Railway will be made for the Alberta Government in the next few weeks.

The work will begin as soon as possible after the return of Alfred A. Chard, who is in the north now checking up homestead and other available lands. When Mr. Chard's report, with a list of lands, has been dealt with by the Government a number of experts from the Department of Agriculture and University of Alberta will go north to conduct a series of investigations into soil conditions, with tests to follow.

After resuming normal flight for several minutes the pilot landed without difficulty and apparently unaffected by giddiness.

Carried Latest News To British Editors

Airplane Took Press Despatches To Visitors At E.P. Ranch

Calgary.—No matter where newspapermen are they must have the news. Even when the party of British editors detained at High River and left in automobiles for the Prince of Wales' ranch, which they believed to be far off in the foothills and separated by miles of prairie from the nearest station, an aeroplane from the forest patrol at High River pursued them and after their arrival at the ranch dropped them the latest Canadian Pacific despatches, giving them all the most important information of the world's affairs.

Bears Were Friendly

Lord Chief Justice Of England Interested In Bears At Banff

Toronto.—Lord Hewart of Bury, lord chief justice of England, said the Banff bear had been the high light of his trip from Quebec to the Rockies and back, when he arrived here to attend the meetings of the Canadian Bar Association.

"The bears came to the side of our car and begged for chocolate," the genial jurist said. "We fed them and they posed for their photographs." He was surprised to hear that a woman had been attacked by one of these bears. "They were most amiable to us," he assured his interviewer.

Open Game Reserve

Opportunity To Be Given Tourists In South Africa To See Fauna At Closed Quarters

Cape Town, South Africa.—The national game reserve of South Africa, consisting of 500 square miles of virgin land, is to be opened to tourists. The national board of trustees met at Komatipoort to consider building roads within the reserve. An experimental road 37 miles long already has penetrated the heart of the bush.

The scheme follows the suggestion of a visitor. When worked out it will enable people to see the African fauna at close quarters in safety, something that has not been possible before.

Would Leave Ireland Alone

Sydney, N.S.—"Our duty to Ireland at the present time is to leave her alone," declared Treasurer Haley, of Chatham, N.B., addressing a public meeting at the 24th biennial convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. Mr. Haley referred to the fight for self-determination in Ireland a few years ago, and declared that the fight had been won. The Irish people had achieved the same degree of self-determination as existed in Canada. Their sympathizers in Canada might now leave them to work out their own destiny.

Wins Editorial Contest

Davidson, The Acadian, Wolfville, N.S., won the contest conducted by the national committee for the celebration of the diamond jubilee of Confederation to determine the best editorial appearing in weekly newspapers dealing with Confederation and the progress of Canada. Worried Over Payroll

Omaha, Neb.—Comes from Clarence Chamberlin, trans-Atlantic flier, a story that Charles A. Levine, was more worried about a roll of bills on their trip than about himself. He forgot to leave the money behind for his payroll. "When he thought of it," Chamberlin relates, "he shouted in consternation, declaring he certainly hated to go into Davy Jones' locker with all that money on him."

PREPARING FOR BIG TORY MEET AT WINNIPEG

Edmonton.—Western Canada will be fully represented at the big Conservative convention at Winnipeg October 11, to name a national leader. This was definitely stated by Major-General A. D. McRae, Vancouver, chairman of the organization committee for the pending convention, when he delivered a special address before local Conservatives who tendered him a luncheon here.

Showing there will be a full representation from the head of the lakes to the Pacific, General McRae stated that in British Columbia it was a question as to who could go as many were anxious to make the trip. He had received an assurance from Senator W. A. Griesbach that Northern Alberta would be fully represented, and he had the same information regarding Southern Alberta. Saskatchewan also was expected to send a full delegation.

There probably will be 1,500 delegates at least at the convention, stated the General, who declared it probably would mark an epoch in the history of the party. It would likely be looked back to as the greatest event since the days of Sir John A. Macdonald.

From Ontario there would be almost a complete representation of delegates, while the 200 expected from Quebec might be increased to 250. Enthusiastic reports were being received from the Maritime provinces and other districts, all pointing to a bumper convention.

Soviets Praised By Trotsky

Awaiting World Revolution Which He Thinks Is Inevitable

Moscow.—Leon Trotsky, interviewed by an American labor economic delegation, praised the Soviet government as the first attempt to prove that a world Socialist society is workable.

He denied that the opposition in Soviet Russia, of which he is one of the leaders, wants the Soviets to declare war against the bourgeois countries, and said that the opposition sit with folded hands awaiting the world revolution which inevitably will follow the coming world war.

Would Restrict Immigration

Philadelphia, Pa.—A plea for the retention of high wages and restriction of immigration, and a denunciation of undesirable aliens in the United States featured an address given by James J. Davis, secretary of labor, speaking at the convention of the Loyal Order of Moose.

Newspaper Men Meet At Geneva Conference

To Study Some Problems Connected With Their Profession

Geneva.—The men who are managing the news agencies and the newspapers of the world gathered at Geneva, under the auspices of the League of Nations in an international conference to study problems connected with their profession. Improvement in the means of communication, telegraphs, telephonic, and wireless, more reasonable rates for the transmission of news, better facilities in the collection of news, the removal of censorship in peace time, and examination of the general problems of the legal protection of press information were subjects on the agenda.

The Canadian Press was represented by Hon. Frank Carrel, publisher of the Quebec Chronicle Telegraph.

Exchange Of Radio Programs

Proposal Made By Engineer Of British Broadcasting Company

New York.—Peter P. Eckersley, chief engineer of the British Broadcasting Company, announced at a luncheon in London that he intended to visit this country in September to begin negotiations which he believes will result within a year in a regular exchange of English and American radio broadcast programs.

Eckersley's announcement, made at a luncheon of the Radio Manufacturers' Association of Great Britain in London, was relayed here by radio telephone and received by American radio men breakfasting in a New York apartment.

Predict Leather Shortage

People Eating Less Meat and Hide Production Below Demand

New York.—What the public saves at the butchers, it must lose at the shoe makers, according to a warning issued by the National Shoe Retailers Association. Too few cattle are being killed to provide supplies of shoe leather, the statement says.

Because the public is eating less meat nowadays, present production of hides is far below demand and world's surpluses have been exhausted, the association declared. Advances of 15 to 20 per cent. in shoe prices were predicted.

Annual Sheep and Swine Show

Regina.—The annual sheep and swine show and sale will be held at the exhibition grounds here on November 1, 2 and 3. The show will be held in Saskatoon preceding its appearance here, on October 27 and 28. Some excellent prizes have been offered, including specials by breeders' associations.

BALDWIN GIVES HIS IMPRESSIONS OF RECENT VISIT

Southampton, Eng.—Right Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Prime Minister of Great Britain, Mrs. Baldwin and party arrived on the Empress of Scotland after their extended tour of Canada.

"I have had a very strenuous time," the Premier said in an interview with a representative of the Canadian Press, "but it has been a wonderful experience and I have enjoyed every minute of it. In 19 days I made 26 speeches. I mention this only in case there has been an impression abroad that I have been on a holiday."

Premier Baldwin soon plunged into matters of state upon his return to these shores as a bulky despatch box was at Cherbourg awaiting his arrival there on his way to Southampton.

During the voyage the Premier treated his fellow passengers with characteristic courtesy but skillfully declined to be drawn into discussions on political or commercial matters into which some of the travellers hardly concealed their anxiety to beguile him.

Chatting with those around him, Premier Baldwin again alluded to the deep impression his journey across Canada had made upon him.

"Despite some thickly populated centres like Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg, over the whole Dominion there are only three persons to the square mile," he said, "so you understand why Canada's problem is different from ours. Even travelling at the rate of 50 miles an hour I had no time to visit the Pacific coast, although I did cross the Great Divide and set foot in British Columbia."

The Premier especially mentioned the profound impression created upon himself and Mrs. Baldwin, when they first viewed the heights of Abraham and afterwards witnessed the vociferous welcome extended to the Prince of Wales and Prince George. He also spoke enthusiastically of his visit to Lake Louise and of the simple heartiness of farewell given Mrs. Baldwin and himself in Nova Scotia.

Study Boundary Problems

Representatives Of Canada and U.S. Meet In Vancouver

Vancouver.—Problems of the international boundaries between Canada and the U.S. and Alaska are being studied by special commissioners from both governments, John D. Clark, director of surveys, Ottawa, and Col. E. Lester Jones, Washington, D.C., who are now in Vancouver.

Referring to the proposal as put forward by Hugh Denison, Australian trade commissioner in New York, that the port of Skagway in United States Alaskan territory should be internationalized or leased to British Columbia interests, Col. Jones said neither he nor Mr. Clark had heard anything of the scheme officially.

Second Distribution To Shareholders Of Saskatchewan Company

Regina, Sask.—Aggregating about $1,500,000 the second distribution payment to the shareholders in the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company, Limited, was made by the Saskatchewan General Trust Corporation, liquidators of the Co-operative Elevator Company. This is the second payment of approximately $1,500,000 made since the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company, Limited, was purchased by the Saskatchewan Pool Elevators Limited, early in April. Twenty-eight thousand cheques were made out and sent to the shareholders of the company.

Will Make Binder Twine

Portage la Prairie, Man.—The Manitoba Cordage Co. of this city, manufacturers of medium and heavy wrapping twine, are now about to manufacture binder twine as well. The concern only started last May to turn out twines and cordage from hemp grown in Western Canada and appears now to be well established.

Prince of Wales Shocks London

Bond Street is lamenting and Piccadilly refuses to be comforted and the voice of the mourner is heard in the land. Something resembling a fashion earthquake has struck London. Society and the glasses of fashion and moulds of form of that city are in sackcloth and ashes. This, at any rate, is what Associated Press despatches from that city tell us and the reason is that the Prince of Wales is wearing a hard straw hat. It appears that it "isn't done" in the best circles and what's more it hasn't been done for forty years. Only Harrow school boys, we are told, Smithfield meat porters and tourists commit this unpardonable crime. It hasn't upset Canada to any noticeable extent and the Prince has a knack of suiting himself in these little matters which is perhaps one of the secrets of his democratic success. In the accompanying photograph he is shown standing against the Canadian Pacific Royal train at Winnipeg station chatting to the Honorable Theodore Burrows, Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, and whatever they are saying it is an odds-on chance that they are not talking about straw hats, nor discussing the distress of Bond Street and Piccadilly. It looks as though the offending headgear may be the correct wear next summer in London.

How to Prevent Typhoid.

Issued by the Provincial Department Public Health.

Someone once said that for every death from Typhoid Fever someone should be hanged. Why? Because Typhoid is an entirely preventable disease.

Typhoid Fever is not essentially a summer disease, but the summer and early fall is the season in which the greater percentage of cases occur in the temperate regions. A study of some of the facts concerning the disease will help to explain this fact.

The disease is caused by the Typhoid bacillus and by that alone, and the original source is the human being, the only creature which is known to harbour the typhoid germ.

When any person is suffering from the disease his bowel and kidney excretions teem with organisms and in rare instances the patient's sputum contains typhoid bacilli. Certain persons (from one to ten per cent. of all cases) who have recovered from the disease harbor the germs usually in the gall bladder and they are excreted in the usual way, but at irregular intervals. These persons are typhoid carriers, and as they may remain carriers throughout life are a dangerous source of infection.

Unless the excretions are properly disinfected they will readily contaminate a water supply and become a great source of danger to others. Milk is frequently infected directly, by the hands of a carrier or a recently recovered patient, or indirectly by contaminated water.

The next point to be considered is, "How long will these organisms exist outside of the human body?"

In ordinary soil and in ordinary conditions the germs have been recovered in large numbers up to twenty days and in smaller numbers up to seventy days or even eighty days and on vegetables that have been watered with highly contaminated water for varying periods from ten to thirty-one days. In milk kept under ordinary conditions germs will multiply with great rapidity until the milk has soured.

In water contaminated by the excreta of a typhoid patient or carrier, the germs will retain their vitality for a period of eight to ten days, and they have been recovered in running water eighty-five miles from the source of pollution, which proves the old saying, "Running water purifies itself," is a dangerous fallacy.

Flies are carriers of typhoid as well as other intestinal infections and this is another reason why the greatest care should be exercised in thoroughly disinfecting the discharges from typhoid patients. Flies can only carry the germs of the disease when they can gain access to the germ-laden discharges. All privies, and more particularly privy vaults, should be made fly-proof and manure piles, refuse heaps and exposed garbage should be removed. Proper receptacles should be provided for such refuse. If this is done flies will cease to be a factor in the spread of typhoid fever or any other intestinal infection. The best way to destroy the fly is to destroy its breeding place. It is obvious that the home should be well screened and food-stuffs carefully protected from flies.

makes Warm Air Heating the most efficient system known to Science!

AMONG heating experts warm air is known as the most healthful and economical form of domestic heating. It fosters health—gives winter-long comfort. It costs about one-half that of other systems. Yet, because so many warm air furnaces are unscientifically installed, thousands of householders are not getting the results they should.

How can this condition be remedied?

The answer is "Code Installation". A "Code Installed" Warm Air Heating System is a system installed according to tried and proven scientific principles. There is no guesswork. "Code Installed" warm air guarantees an unfailing abundance of moist, circulating healthful heat—seventy degrees in every room during sub-zero weather.

McClary's are the only Canadian members of the National Warm Air Heating and Ventilating Association—an association which has adopted a scientific code for installing warm air furnaces. By insisting on a McClary's "Code Installed" Sunshine Furnace you are guaranteed a heating system which costs less to buy and less to maintain than more elaborate systems—yet provides 70 degrees of heating in every room.

Ventiblast

McClary's Ventiblast is an exclusive feature of McClary's Sunshine Furnace, which burns soft coal equally as well as hard coal, coke or wood. It mixes pre-heated air with soft coal gases and converts them into flame—thus eliminating soot, waste and dust.

Fill in and mail attached coupon, and we will send you name and address of the nearest McClary's dealer who will guarantee a "Code Installed" heating system which will give lifetime satisfaction.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

SOLOMON'S WISE CHOICE

Golden Text: "Happy is the man that findeth wisdom, and the man that getteth understanding."—Proverbs 3:13.

Lesson: 1 Kings 3:4-15.
Devotional Reading: Proverbs 8:12-19.

Explanations and Comments

1. Solomon's Wise Choice, verses 4-9.—David has died and Solomon has been anointed king. Solomon went in state to Gibeon, presumably in the first year of his reign, accompanied by a vast retinue. Gibeon was the great high place, that is, a Canaanitish sacred spot, or place for sacrifice, located upon a hill-top. The Israelites consecrated such "high places" to the worship of Jehovah. The law of Deuteronomy 12:10-21 forbade worship at high places and restricted the worship to a single sanctuary, but worship at high places was practised until the time of Hezekiah, 2 Kings 18:4.

Although the ark stood in a temporary tent at Jerusalem, Gibeon is called the chief high place because the tabernacle, the ancient tent of the wanderings, was there. In front of the tabernacle stood the brazen altar for sacrifices (2 Chron. 1:35), and there Solomon offered a thousand victims. He wished to display his royal munificence to his great assembly. That night when the smoke of the sacrifice had rolled away and the music and noise had ceased, Solomon slept, and in a dream Jehovah appeared to him and said, "Ask what I shall give thee."

"Still, earth grows hard with facts and fears:
Stark life were but a sorry scheme:
Lord of the everlasting years,
Guard Thou the dreamer and his dream!"—Nancy Byrd Turner.

In answer Solomon spoke of his father David's uprightness of heart and God's mercies to him, and spoke of his own ascent of the throne as a great kindness shown to his father; compare 1 Kings 1:48. Then he spoke humbly of himself: "I am but a little child," he said. Josephus says that Solomon was only fourteen years old on his accession to the throne, but we know from 1 Kings 11:42 and 14:21, that he was already married, and it is generally supposed that he was about twenty years old. "I know not how to go out or come in," he added, making use of a proverbial expression which means that he did not know how to conduct public or military affairs. With customary oriental exaggerations, Solomon thus acknowledged his lack of experience and his realization of the greatness of the task before him. Compare Jeremiah 1:6, 8.

If one be troubled with corns, he will find in Holloway's Corn Remover an application that will entirely relieve suffering.

"I look forward every Sunday to the after-dinner nap."

"I thought you never slept after dinner."

"I don't, but my wife does."

PREMIER BALDWIN LEARNS TO DRIVE
LARGEST LOCOMOTIVE IN BRITISH EMPIRE

The Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, the British Premier, took a short course in engine driving at Pickering, Ontario, on the new Canadian National locomotive, number 6120, the largest and most powerful railway engine in the British Empire. Mr. Baldwin, when visiting Kingston, Ont., heard that this titan of the steel rails was an all-Canadian product, designed by Canadian National Railway engineers and built at the Kingston shops. Early on Saturday morning No. 6120 was attached to the Royal Train to haul it into Toronto to mark the opening of the new Union Station. Mr. Baldwin, although busily engaged in the preparation of his speeches, halted in his work to make an inspection of the engine, eventually climbing into the cab with the engineer. He showed the keenest interest in the manner in which the big locomotive was handled when travelling at high speed, and worked the various levers controlling the engine. "It is a wonderful piece of machinery and should be a source of pride to the Canadian designers and builders," said the Premier on leaving the locomotive. No. 6120 is one of forty engines of similar type that are being turned out this season for the fast passenger and freight services of the National System. When in regular service they will run 610 miles without change—the longest locomotive runs in the Dominion.

A Prime Dressing for Wounds.—In some factories and workshops carbolic acid is kept for use in cauterizing wounds and cuts sustained by the workmen. Far better to keep on hand a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. It is just as quick in action and does not sear the skin or burn the flesh.

"Can you stand on your head?" asked a patronizing visitor of the youngest boy of the family. "No," was the reply. "It's too high up."

It is strange what an insulting word "parson" can be when uttered by some people. It seems to impute all the crawling unctuousness, the cringing dependence of the poor, starved incumbent whose wretched existence hangs on the whim of some drunken and dissolute squire.

What right had a parson, who should be meek and appealing and apologetic, to look like this young chap, who had the physique of a light-weight boxing champion, Magistrate Windsor, late of Stockton-on-Tees, having this conception, though perhaps unconsciously, in his mind, looked upon the Reverend Edward Terry with extreme ill favor. There was also the sudden antagonism of the administrator of the law, who resents civilian interference, particularly from the person he called "Parson." Let the church mind its own business!

Mr. Terry, reared in the new school of thought, would have stoutly insisted that he was minding his business as a minister when looking after the straying members of his flock.

"I am here to ask permission to see her," the minister said; "the girl has no relations nearer than Finland; she is only seventeen, and she bears an excellent record."

"Well, Sir, she will have to learn to respect an officer of the law. These foreigners have no respect for the King's uniform, and I take it as my duty to teach them. I don't know or care anything about her record. She may have attended chapel three times a day and gone to the penitent bench, if you still use one; and maybe she can recite verses; but she can't knock one of my men down-stairs and get away with it—that's all. And besides, can you tell me why a girl with a splendid record should be found in the worst Chinese joint in the city, and have a box of heroin tablets in her hand when arrested? I would like to hear your explanation of that."

"I cannot explain it," said Mr. Terry quietly, "but I believe there is an explanation. I believe the girl is innocent."

"Oh, indeed?" the magistrate shot his eyebrows almost into his hair—"without hearing one word of evidence or considering the case at all your mind is made up? Well! And if she is innocent, why won't she talk? She has refused to utter a word. Can she talk English?"

"I am not sure—very little, I think."

"Well, we have an interpreter here, but she won't talk. She is a high-tempered, dangerous young anarchist—the sort I would like to see ducked in the river."

At this the minister's temper broke

YOUNG WOMEN

These Two Found Relief by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Ayer's Cliff, Quebec.—"I have been teaching for three years, and at the end of the year I always feel tired and have no appetite. I was awful sick each month, too, having pains in my back until sometimes I was obliged to stop working. A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to me and I heard many women telling how good it was so I thought it would help me. And it did. Now I take six bottles every year and recommend it to others."—DONALDA FANTEUX, Ayer's Cliff, Quebec.

"Unable to Work"
Canning, Nova Scotia.—"I had irregular periods and great suffering at those times, the pains causing vomiting and fainting. I was teaching school and often for some hours I would be unable to attend to my work. Through an advertisement in the papers I knew of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has been of great benefit to me, the troubles being completely relieved."—LAURA J. EATON, Canning, King's County, Nova Scotia.

into a thousand pieces, but his voice was well under control. "Surely these are strong words to come from an administrator of the law," he said quietly. "Have we no law to deal with offenders that we must resort to mob rule? Your place, Sir, as a magistrate, is to exonerate the innocent quite as much as to punish the guilty. Yet here you are, prejudiced against the girl, before you even see her."

"Oh, I saw her, kicking like a wild steer and snapping like a mud-turtle. I saw her, all right. Well, I see no objection to your seeing her. Finns are naturally red, and I don't trust them."

"Surely, you cannot describe a whole country in one word?"

"Can't I?" the magistrate snapped. "Why not? Being a preacher doesn't give you much chance to know your fellowmen. I see them here in the raw; the veneer is all off when they come here. I know them, and in every case the women are the worst."

An officer was called to conduct Mr. Terry down-stairs and through a winding hallway, where their feet stuck gummily to the damp linoleum. The light was murky and dim, filtering down through narrow squares or muddy glass in the floor above, and the air was old and dead.

Past many narrow doors they went, each with a round hole from which observation might be taken of the occupant, who was not even to have the poor solace of solitude. All the agony of loneliness and desolation was his, but not the dignity.

Stopping at the last one, the officer produced a key from his waistcoat pocket and opened the door. Helmi sprang from the pallet on which she had been lying and faced the intruders. Her eyes were red and swollen, her hair dishevelled, her gingham dress sadly crumpled, and one sleeve was gone. But her eyes gleamed with defiance. When she saw the friendly face of the minister she seized his hand impulsively and kissed it—much to his embarrassment.

"Take me out," she cried, breaking silence for the first time since her arrest. Her eyes filled with tears. There was a sudden temptation to tell all to this man, whom she knew to be her friend. She was desolate, distressed and bewildered. He would know. Then came a stiffening. Helmi choked back her sobs and stood erect.

"Won't you tell me, Helmi?" asked Mr. Terry.

Helmi shook her head.

"You are a brave girl," he said.

Outside, in the common room, the liberty of which Helmi would have had if she had been an ordinary first-class prisoner who had not resisted arrest, two frequent guests sat while away the hours comparing their experiences in the great open spaces of life where they had carried on successful careers in their chosen profession.

Babe Summers was industriously knitting a sock of indistinct and neutral color. The sock had been a long time on the way, for Miss Summers worked at it only intermittently, and then only during her periods of incarceration. When the bright dower of liberty bloomed for her again, which it always did when she paid her fine, Miss Summers' plans had no place in them for the dull task of knitting.

Miss Summers had been brought in the night before, slightly under the influence of liquor, but demanded that her knitting be brought to her first thing in the morning.

Not so her companion, Miss Fay Sharpe, who still occupied one of three couches.

"It's grand to have a whole to rest," she said, yawning luxuriously. "Good Heavens! what with this one and that one—'Fay here and Fay there'—I never gets a minute to myself only when I comes in. Good mornin', darlin'—this to the matron—'Growin' younger you are—every time I comes I sees it. Faith, ain't it good to be you, in a nice ain't job, and policemen all over the place to step out wit. Some women has all the luck. Some gets the roses and some gets the thorns, as poor mother often said—God rest her soul. A decent woman she was, and never thought she'd see her darlin' Fay having to work her day's work."

Miss Sharpe turned her face to the wall and wept noisily.

"Woop'er up," said Miss Summers, unfeelingly, "It don't 'urt on one. Did you know there is a new one come in? Oh, Lor—a 'igh stepper, young, fresh—resisted, mind ye—young as that—winged good old Wait, wot wouldn't 'urt a fly—sent him splinnin' down the stairs at the Chinks. She'll get time for that sure as she's a hinch 'gh. I did it first, too."

Miss Summers laughed reminisciently. "I was innocent that time, and fought, and they sent me down. They always fight first. But, Lord! a person soon learns. She'll learn. Say, Fay, it's too bad for the little thing to be left in there lonely, and us waitin' to keep 'er company out 'ere, and givin' her lots of advice. Life is 'ard on the young ones, Fay, until they learn. It don't take long, either. Sit up, Fay, and dry your eyes, and tidy up a little bit. We'll get the old girl to let her out. A nice young girl, smart and spunky, would be 'andy for us now, and 'ere's the place to get them. I got Clara 'ere, you mind, and she was a grand girl to me till the Harmy got 'er and turned 'er against me. Poor Clara, she's a roustabout now in someone's kitchen, and that girl 'ad 'er silks and 'er satins with me. There's always someone wot takes the joy out of life, as the good Book says; a person has to make the best of it and go on."

Miss Sharpe sat up uncertainly.

Her friend regarded her critically. "You do look seedy, my dear," she said, forced to be unpleasant. "Good Night! your heyes are ploppl'n out of your head, and looks like two poached hedges. You're drinkin', Fay—no, don't deny it—and it don't do. We got to keep ourselves genteel in our business. Perhaps you better keep out of this—you're a little too pie-eyed today; a lot depends on first impressions, and I want the girl to like us. I likes to rule by love more than fear; it's easier, Fay. Now you lay over and rest your weary eyelids. I'll have a go with the new little girl and try to win her over if the old girl will let 'er out. It's a shame to keep her there like a little captive."

"My face broke out with small pimples which gradually became large, red and very hard. They festered and scaled over which made them very sore, and itched, causing me to scratch, and they soon spread to my chest and back. My face was disfigured and I was ashamed to go any place. I could not sleep on account of the irritation."

Keep Experiments Secret

Scientists in Carefully Guarded Laboratories Discovering Astonishing Possibilities

Behind locked doors in carefully guarded laboratories, extraordinary experiments are taking place conducted by many of the world's greatest scientists, which may change the course of human destiny. Among other things, science is trying to make old men young; prolong life indefinitely; determine sex; control genius; produce a perfect human being; create a living creature.

Throughout the ages man's dream has been to see himself the conqueror of death, a superman able to resist at will the ravages of old age and disease. Recently remarkable strides have been made. Vronoff has proved that rejuvenation is more than a mere name, sex-determination has been practised with success. Other great unexplored fields are being tapped by the men of science. Any day now may see their complete triumph.

Results which foretell startling possibilities are being made in other directions. Not long ago a group of scientists in London were invited to witness a number of beetles whose heads had been cut off and other beetles' heads grafted on them. It was shown that the body of the beetle on being given a change of head would gradually conform to the species, and even to the sex of the decapitated beetle whose head it now wore. Some of these beetles lived for six weeks after change of head, and fed and lived normally! The possible lines of development of these amazing experiments stagger the imagination.

Little Helps For This Week

"In righteousness shalt thou be established." Isa. liv. 14.

To conquer love of self and lust of life.

To tear deep-rooted passion from the breast.

To still the inward strife;

For love to clasp eternal beauty close;

For glory to be lord of self; for pleasure

To live beyond the gods; for countless wealth

To lay up lasting treasure

Of perfect service rendered, duties done

In charity, soft speech and stainless days;

These riches shall not fade away with life.

Helpful Baby Book

We have just received a booklet, "Baby Welfare," which is one of the most interesting and instructive we have seen in a long time. It has chapters on pre-natal care, Feeding of Baby, Bottle Feeding Supplementing Breast Feeding, Diet After First Year, Food Formulas, Sleep, Fresh Air, Exercise, Bathing, Clothing Baby's Weight and Measurements, with sundry hints as to safeguarding of baby's health against common ailments. There is also a page devoted to Baby's Biography, which should be an interesting record of the little one's activities when it is filled in, and a Weekly Record for Baby's Weight and Height, which the mother can fill in. In the introduction the publishers say that they have purposely omitted suggestions pertaining to medical treatment, knowing that such information should properly come from the family physician when such advice is needed. Mothers desiring a copy of this most helpful book can obtain one, free, by writing to The Baby Welfare Department of the Borden Company Limited, 180 St. Paul Street West, Montreal, mentioning this paper.

In the years to come we shall look back and wonder why we did not more highly prize the treasures that were ours.

The world is full of would-be leaders who couldn't even follow successfully.

World Population Doubled

The greatest single change of the past 100 years has been the rapid increase in the number of people inhabiting the earth. During that time the population of the world nearly doubled. A century ago it was less than one billion. Today it is about 1,700,000,000.

A BROKEN DOWN SYSTEM.
This is a condition for dis ease to which doctors give many names, but which few of them really understand. It is simply weakness, a break-down, as it were, of the vital forces that sustain the system. No matter what may be its causes (they are almost numberless), its symptoms are much the same: the more prominent being sleeplessness, sense of prostration or weariness, depression of spirits and want of energy for all the ordinary affairs of life. Now, what is absolutely essential in all such cases is increased vitality—vigour, vital strength and energy to throw off these morbid feelings, and as night succeeds the day this may be more certainly secured by a course of THE NEW FRENCH REMEDY, THERAPION No. 3 than by any other known combination. Sooner, as it is taken in accordance with the directions accompanying it, will the shattered health be restored. THE EXPIRING LAMP OF LIFE LIGHTED UP AFRESH. and a new existence imparted in place of what had so lately seemed worn out, used up, and valueless. This wonderful medicine is suitable for all ages, constitutions and conditions, in either sex; and is so difficult to imagine a disease or derangement whose main feature is weakness, that will not be speedily and permanently overcome by this recuperative force, which is destined to cast into oblivion everything that had preceded it for this wide spread & numerous class of human ailments.
